World Food Safety Day Celebrations

On 7^h, June, 2020

INTRODUCTION:

World Food Safety Day is celebrated on June 7 worldwide. Food safety is the major step to be taken in the whole world. Food is a necessity and acts as a catalyst for societal transformation, development and expansion. Food safety is a shared responsibility among the governments, producers and consumers. The way in which food is produced, stored, handled and consumed effects the safety of our food and the absence of food safety may harm the health of consumers. Hence, World food safety Day is being celebrated worldwide to bring awareness among the people about eating healthy and safe food in their daily life.

In this regard, Department of Biotechnology has organized National Level E-Quiz competitions on World Food Safety Day.

SYPOSIS: World food safety day June 7, 2020 was celebrated by department of Biotechnology, in online mode to create awareness. Both students and faculty from various colleges participated enthusiastically and poster presentation contest was a grand success as 84 posters were presented regarding various food related issues. Best posters were awarded prizes.

OBJECTIVES:

1. The main objective is to create awareness among the people related food related issues.
2. To enlighten students to take measures for examining the safe food as it contributes to economic prosperity, boosting agriculture, market access, tourism.
3. To help people in detecting and managing food borne illness.

OUT COMES:

1. The awareness towards the food contamination is established in community.
2. It brings out the role to be played by everybody from farm to table to ensure the food we consume is safe and will not cause any damage to our health.

ATTENDANCE OF THE PARTICIPANTS:

There was an over whelming response from all the areas which included about 82.1% are from student community, 16% from Faculty and 9% from others. It's appreciable that the young generations are aware of food safety. Nearly 318 members have taken part in the competitions and shared a very good and enthusiastic feedback.
